CATAMARAN TOURS OF THE GREEK ISLANDS

GREECE — THE WAY IT WAS MEANT TO BE EXPERIENCED

There is something entirely different about experiencing the Greek islands from the sea. Wake to the blue of the Aegean outside your cabin. Sail past rugged coastlines and whitewashed villages. Drop anchor in secluded coves for a swim. Pull into an island harbor in the afternoon, wander through its narrow streets, enjoy dinner at a seaside taverna, and return to your catamaran beneath a sky filled with stars.

GREECE: THE VIEW FROM THE SEA

Chef Dino's Catamaran Tours of the Greek Islands combine the freedom and adventure of sailing with the food, history, culture and hospitality that make Greece extraordinary.

These are not traditional cruises—and they are certainly not traditional tours. They are intimate, small-group Greek experiences personally curated by Chef Dino, designed to introduce guests to the Greece he knows and loves. Our itineraries are deliberately flexible. The wind and sea ultimately determine where we sail, and part of the experience is embracing that sense of adventure. We have a plan—but Greece sometimes has a plan of its own.

PLANNED ITINERARY

The Southern Cyclades*

Beginning on Paros, our planned sailing itinerary includes:

Paros → Antiparos → Sifnos → Milos → Folegandros → Ios → Heraklia → Paros

This is the Greece people dream about. Swim in crystalline water beneath towering cliffs. Explore tiny harbors and whitewashed villages. Discover secluded coves inaccessible by road. Spend evenings dining at island tavernas and mornings having breakfast aboard the catamaran with the Aegean stretching to the horizon. Every island has its own personality. Paros and Antiparos offer quintessential Cycladic beauty. Sifnos is renowned for its culinary traditions. Milos possesses some of the most extraordinary geological landscapes and beaches in Greece. Folegandros rises dramatically from the Aegean. Ios combines beautiful beaches with classic Cycladic villages.

And tiny Heraklia offers a glimpse of a quieter, slower Greece.

The Aegean is famous for its summer Meltemi winds. Should forecasts indicate that conditions would make the planned itinerary uncomfortable or unsafe, we will yield to the Captain's discretion for alternate island stops and destinations.*

A DIFFERENT KIND OF TRAVEL THE ADVENTURE IS PART OF THE EXPERIENCE

A catamaran is not a floating hotel.

That distinction is important.

Life aboard a boat is part luxury, part adventure and occasionally part improvisation. Boats are complex machines operating continuously in a marine environment, and from time to time things may not work exactly as expected.

An air-conditioning unit may temporarily malfunction. A marine toilet may clog. Mechanical or electrical equipment may require attention. Weather may require us to change destinations, alter our sailing schedule or remain in port longer than anticipated.

Every reasonable effort will be made to correct problems as quickly as possible. There may, however, be situations where an issue cannot be repaired immediately without significantly interrupting the journey.

Guests joining our catamaran tours should come with a sense of adventure, flexibility and a willingness to "roll with it".

When the wind changes, sometimes we change with it.

That's not an interruption of the adventure.

It is the adventure.

Please understand it is our policy that itinerary changes, weather-related changes and temporary mechanical or onboard inconveniences do not constitute grounds for refunds or price adjustments.

CHEF DINO'S CATAMARAN TOURS OF THE GREEK ISLANDS

The Aegean. The islands. The food. The history. The people.

Come experience the Greece that Chef Dino loves—not from the window of a tour bus or the deck of a massive cruise ship, but from the sea itself.

Small group. Big adventure.

Unforgettable Greece.

IMPORTANT ITINERARY INFORMATION

All sailing itineraries are proposed itineraries only and are subject to change.

Weather, wind, sea conditions, port conditions, mechanical considerations and the judgment of the captain may require the itinerary to be altered before or during the voyage.

The captain has final authority regarding navigation and vessel safety.

Our priority will always be the safety, comfort and optimal experience of our guests. Islands may be substituted, the order of destinations may change, and scheduled stops may be shortened, extended or eliminated when circumstances require.

And that's one of the reasons we travel by catamaran.

We're not simply traveling to the Greek islands.

We're traveling through them.
